

The history of the internet can be traced back to the 1960s when the U.S. Department of Defense developed ARPANET.

Over the decades, the internet has evolved into a global network that connects billions of devices and people, enabling communication, commerce, and information sharing on an unprecedented scale.